In your review of draft chapter 16, you may wish to devote particular attention to the passages listed below. For ease of reference, we have identified the relevant paragraphs. Please use the space provided to the right of the paragraph number to make your comment.

Index number theory

Section B presents an overview of index number theory as applied in the System. It has been updated to reflect work during the last decade embodied in the new manuals on consumer price indices, producer price indices, and export and import price indices (available in draft).

| | |
|-----------------|---|
| General comment | In general clear and appropriate |
| 16.10 | Seems to have too many explanations, could be shorter. |
| 16.14 | In definition of unit value indices change to "not necessarily homogeneous" |
| 16.2 | (In section A) the last part of the paragraph is not quite clear. |

Derivation of volume measures in the national accounts

Section C is considerably expanded from its counterparts in the SNA 1993. The ISWGNA agreed that this expansion was needed and that the new price manuals provided useful input for the expansion.

2. Paragraphs 16.89 - 16.183 cover price deflation vs. quantity revaluation, volume measures of the output estimate of GDP, volume measures of the expenditure estimate of GDP, volumes and prices for stocks of non-financial assets and consumption of fixed capital, components of value added, measures of real income for the total economy, and other aspects of price and volume measurement.
