Annotations

1. Opening of the session

The provisional programme for the opening session should include an opening address by the Chair of the session, in which he informs the Group of the activities of the Bureau during the transition period and provides the vision for the 2019 session. This will be followed by welcome and opening remarks from the Assistant Secretary-General for Policy Coordination and Inter-Agency Affairs. Additional speakers may be added to the programme for the opening session.

2. Election of officers

In its resolution 2018/2, the Economic and Social Council adopted the working arrangements for the “new” United Nations Group of Experts on Geographical Names, including to decide that the elected Bureau of the Group of Experts would be maintained to oversee the 2017–2019 transition.

Furthermore, in rule 7 of the rules of procedure of the Group of Experts, as set out in Council decision 2018/264 (see E/2018/INF/2), the Group will have a Bureau elected from among the representatives of Member States and will comprise a Chair, two Vice-Chairs and two Rapporteurs, who will guide the activities of the Group during and between its sessions. The Bureau should be elected with due regard to the principle of equitable geographical rotation of those officers from among the regions of the Member States.

According to rule 8 of the rules of procedure, the officers of the 2019 session of the Group will be elected at the commencement of the session and will serve until the terms of office of their successors commence. The officers of the subsequent sessions will be elected at the end of the session prior to the one in which they will assume their functions. They will serve for two sessions and until the terms of office of their successors commence. They will be eligible for re-election.

Documentation

No documentation required.

3. Organizational matters

(a) Adoption of the rules of procedure

Pursuant to Council resolution 2018/2, the rules of procedure were drafted by the Bureau of the Group of Experts, in consultation with States Members of the United Nations. The Council adopted the rules of procedure of the Group of Experts in its decision 2018/264.

Documentation

(c) Organization of work, including establishment of subsidiary bodies

The proposed organization of work and times for the 2019 session of the Group of Experts has been prepared pursuant to relevant decisions of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and the Bureau of the Group of Experts to facilitate the consideration of agenda items within the time and services allocated to the Group. The proposed organization of work and documents for the session will continue to be updated in the course of the preparations for the session.

In its resolution 2018/2, the Council decided that the United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names and the United Nations Group of Experts on Geographical Names should be discontinued in their current formats and be subsumed by a subsidiary body of the Council that would retain their respective mandates. The subsidiary body would be named the United Nations Group of Experts on Geographical Names.

6. Cooperation and liaison with other organizations

(a) International organizations

In accordance with resolution II/33 of the Second United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names and section III (h) of its guiding principles, the Group of Experts has established and maintained liaison with scientific and academic international organizations such as the International Cartographic Association; and Technical Committee 211 of the International Organization for Standardization. The appointed liaison officers of the Group of Experts will report on their interaction since 2017 with those international groups as well as with the following: Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers, International Council of Onomastic Sciences, International Council on Indigenous Place Names, International Hydrographic Organization, Pan-American Institute of Geography and History, Scientific Committee on Antarctic Research and Unicode Consortium. The Group of Experts will open discussions for suggested improvements in cooperation and liaison activity with those groups. Discussions may also be held on liaison activity with other international groups. Possibilities for the Group of Experts to establish formal cooperation with additional international groups will be discussed, as necessary.

7. National and international standardization of geographical names

(a) Names collection, office treatment, national authorities, features beyond a single sovereignty and international cooperation

Presentations and discussion should focus on best practices, new approaches, problems faced and possible solutions with regard to achieving national standardization of geographical names. The topic is broad in scope and includes: methods of names collection (field collection, archival sourcing, crowdsourcing, postal surveys, submissions from the general public, etc.); treatment of names in the office (approaches to resolving duplication, name changes, merging of administrative units, commemorative naming, multiple naming and diverse languages and populations, street naming, etc.); legislation, policies and guidelines for names authorities (laws, board structures, principles, programme planning, extent of mandates, relationships of various naming bodies, etc.); names for particular purposes (hydrology, mountain areas, etc.) or standardization requirements of particular user groups (education, emergency operations, different levels of government, etc.). In addition, the agenda item includes names of features beyond a single sovereignty, as well as items relating to international cooperation on geographical names standardization.

(b) Toponymic guidelines for map and other editors for international use

In accordance with resolution IV/4 of the Fourth United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names, the Conference recommended that countries should be encouraged to publish and keep up-to-date toponymic guidelines for map and other editors. The coordinator of work under the item continues to provide support to Member States to prepare, update and disseminate such guidelines. The Group of Experts will have before it, for information and consideration, a report prepared by the coordinator in which he outlines the status of updated and new toponymic guidelines, describes efforts to disseminate the guidelines and make them available and calls upon Member States that do not have guidelines to prepare them.

8. Social and economic benefits, supporting sustainable development, measures taken and proposed for the implementation of resolutions and evaluation of the work of the Group of Experts (Working Group on Evaluation and Implementation)

The Group of Experts addresses the implementation of tasks assigned as a result of the resolutions adopted by the former United Nations Conferences on the Standardization of Geographical Names and by the new United Nations Group of Experts on Geographical Names as one of its aims. Under the agenda item, presentations and discussions will focus on measures to implement the resolutions, as well as experiences in implementing them, within the context of the Group of Experts or at the country level. The discussions on implementing the resolutions are expected to lead to further developments by creating social and economic benefits and supporting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. A total of 211 resolutions have been adopted so far. Discussion will also be held with regard to the functioning and efficacy of the Group of Experts, including to look at the need for developing countries to achieve national standardization of their geographical names and to increase the effectiveness of meetings and subsidiary bodies of the Group of Experts.

12. Toponymic terminology
(Working Group on Toponymic Terminology)

The Working Group was formed in 1989. It is responsible for preparing a glossary of toponymic terminology, reviewing updates to the glossary and establishing a functioning terminology database. There have been several editions of the Glossary of Terms for the Standardization of Geographical Names, the most recent of which was issued in 2002. At the Ninth United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names, held in New York in 2007, an addendum to the Glossary was approved.

The Group of Experts will have before it the report of the Working Group. In its report, the Working Group highlights its work in reviewing updates to the toponymic terminology glossary and establishing a functioning terminology database. The Group of Experts will also have before it relevant reports prepared by experts from across the divisions of the Group of Experts. The Group of Experts is invited to adopt the report of the Working Group and to provide guidance on the next phase of its work.

13. Geographical names as culture, heritage and identity, including indigenous, minority and regional languages and multilingual issues
(Working Group on Geographical Names as Cultural Heritage)

The Working Group was established in response to resolution VIII/I of the Eighth United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names, held in Berlin, Germany, in 2002. It was formerly known as the Working Group on the Promotion of Indigenous and Minority Group Place Names.

The aim of the Working Group is to oversee activities relating to the promotion of indigenous and minority geographical names as a way to pursue the retention/revitalization of minority and indigenous group culture. The Working Group serves to bring a focus to the relationship between place names and cultural heritage and to assist countries in developing appropriate processes to ensure that the relationship is maintained. The Group of Experts will have before it the report of the Working Group. In its report, the Working Group highlights its work in fulfilling its current workplan. The Group of Experts will also have before it relevant reports prepared by experts from across the divisions related to the topic. The Group of Experts is invited to adopt the report of the Working Group and to provide guidance on the next phase of its work.
